2000TREES

2000trees is always a highlight of the summer and in 2023 the event was crowned our 'Festival of the Year' in our annual Full Pelt Awards.

Now the organisers have confirmed the stunning line-up that will grace Upcote Farm this year and live favourites Don Broco have been confirmed as topping the main stage bill on Saturday. This will be the band's only UK show of 2024!

Festival booker James reckons.... "Don Broco are easily one of the most requested bands that are still yet to play 2000trees. To have them join Trees legend Frank Turner, and one of the most exciting bands to play the festival in recent years in Bob Vylan, tops off one of the most compelling line ups we've ever had. The rest of this announcement, from Wargasm to Empire State Bastard, Cherym to Vower, added to the already announced likes of Boston Manor, Dead Pony, Cassyette, Static Dress, Snayx, Nova Twins, Crawlers and Creeper, 2000trees this year is showing everyone UK rock is in good hands!"

Don Broco themselves add, "We are so excited to play 2000trees this year! So many of our friends cite it as their favourite festival, so getting to play it for the first time as a headliner feels very special. It's our only UK show this year so we will be going all out! Also Reuben are our favourite band in the world so it will be like playing on hallowed ground for us. We can't wait."

2000trees is famed for the depth of their line-up and this week didn't just see the addition of Don Broco but also trees legend Frank Turner and more!

Turner himself says, "A summer's not a proper summer without a stop at 2000trees. It's my festival home, I played the first year, they named a campsite after me, it's where I belong. Stoked to be coming back through."

Also added to the line-up this week were the likes of Bob Vylan, Wargasm, Los Campesinos!, Empire State Bastard, Lonely the Brave, Skinny Lister, Caskets, Kid Brunswick, Palm Reader, Luran Hibberd, BEX, Delilah Bon, Kid Bookie, The Meffs and more!

Milkie of Wargasm comments, "Back when I first moved to England I would attend 2000trees nearly every year. I've seen so many bands that are dear to my heart in that little field and to be not only returning, but making our 2000trees debut with Wargasm by headlining a stage really is a full circle moment."

Palm Reader add, "This year will mark the ending of our band of 13 years. We will be celebrating all the good times we've shared together by playing the best festival in the world - 2000trees. It is an absolute privilege to play at Upcote Farm for the 8th time and we can't think of a better send off than to commemorate the passing of such a large part of our lives at the place we love the most, surrounded by friends, trees and beside the ones we love."

CREEPER

Creeper have revealed the video for the fan-favourite and live staple 'Lovers Led Astray' from latest album, 'Sanguivore'. It emerges from the abyss as Creeper prepare to hit the road for this month's 12 Days Of Night tour.

William Von Ghould says: "We made the video for 'Lovers Led Astray' with one of our favourite visual artists, Harry Steel. The video explores the themes of the song while experimenting with light and shadow. It is an unholy communion of light and dark which threads together the themes of the existing Sanguivore universe, while presenting something new and provocative at the same time."

MARISA AND THE MOTHS

Marisa And The Moths have unveiled 'Get It Off My Chest', another single from their forthcoming second album, 'What Doesn't Kill You', due for release 3rd May.

Marisa says: "'Get It Off My Chest' explores giving in to temptation as a form of escape. Inspired by a personal experience, I sought refuge from drama and grief, but somehow trouble still found me (maybe even seeking it out subconsciously?)."

The song is also a contradiction of sorts: while reflecting on regrettable actions taken in moments of weakness, it also celebrates these impulses and mistakes. They're part of being human, teaching valuable lessons and guiding us to new experiences and connections. They may even help us distance ourselves from negative influences that no longer serve us."

SEASICK STEVE

Seasick Steve has shared 'Funky Music' and 'Let The Music Talk' from his upcoming new album 'A Trip A Stumble A Fall Down On Your Knees', which is due for release on 7th June.

Steve on 'Funky Music': "This track is super fun to play! It's just about funking it up, I have always loved funk! Bands like 'Sly & The Family Stone', 'Tower Of Power' you know, that was the influence here, it's a soul thang!"

On the album, he says: "This album was made by mistake, as the title suggests we just tripped and stumbled into it, and it became my favourite album ever and the piece of work I'm most proud of to date. There's not a week goes by that I don't thank my lucky stars for that night on the Hootenanny which has brought us here to this record".

DELILAH BON

The hype begins for a sophomore album from Delilah Bon. This week saw the release of the first taste of the record with new single 'Maverick'!

TWIN ATLANTIC

Twin Atlantic will release new album, 'Meltdown' on September 13th!

The release is preceded by new single, 'World Class Entertainment', which is out now.

THE PEARL HARTS

The Pearl Harts have shared new single, 'PURE'.

The band says, "'PURE' is a song about positively owning ones' dark side, ones' shadow and integrating the anima and animus. Embracing our animal instincts, especially as womxn. In a world where womxn have been historically and culturally pushed into a box of sexual purity, goodness and obedience – this song is a protest against the saying 'women should be seen and not heard'. Pure is an anthem for womxn to step into their power, not be ashamed to speak their mind and own their darker, unhinged, animalistic and traditional masculine side"

FM

FM have announced that they will release their fourteenth studio album, 'Old Habits Die Hard' on May 3rd.

Released to coincide with the band's 40th Anniversary (1984 – 2024), vocalist, guitarist and founding member Steve Overland says, "the new album encompasses the best melodic elements of the band's illustrious 40-year spanning career. We really looked at what made the most popular FM albums great and tried to focus on that."

Opening track and first single 'Out of The Blue' is out now. Keyboard player Jem Davis says, "the band love the music of Toto and Foreigner and so I tried to put those influences into one track. 'Once Steve got involved and started singing it, I knew that we were onto something special."

"Out Of the Blue is a song that old school FM fans will really latch on to," says Steve. "So far, the reaction to the track has been amazing."

"This song will probably be in the live set for the 40th anniversary tour as it's one of our favourites from the album," explains drummer and founder FM member, Pete Jupp.

SAXON

Saxon unleash the video for 'Madame Guillotine', the third single from the band's critically-acclaimed 24th studio album, 'Hell, Fire And Damnation'

"Both this and the title track songs are written by me and Brian actually, and this is very 'Saxon', so much as I don't think anybody else could pull that off," comments lead singer and founding member Biff Byford. "I sung it as if the guillotine is a person, that the actual guillotine has a bit of a conscience. I love the groove, it's got a great groove!"

THE COMMONERS

Canadian roots and rock band The Commoners share new single, 'Too Soon To Know You'. The track is taken from their highly anticipated third studio album, 'Restless', which is out on 21st June.

"As with our previous album, we wanted to marry old and new southern rock together in a way that was unique to the band's Canadian roots," says the Commoners guitarist and producer Ross Hayes Citrullo. "By adding the soul and rock elements of The Black Crowes, and the southern blues rock undertones of The Allman Brothers to a production style akin to Blackberry Smoke and Rival Sons, I think we developed an authentic sound that compares sonically to some of our favourite records across all of those music genres."

SMASH INTO PIECES

Smash Into Pieces have returned with new single, 'Heroes Are Calling', from new album 'Ghost Code', which will be released on April 12th.

JINJER

JINJER will release concert film, 'Live in Los Angeles', on May 17th.

The band says, "Our sold-out Los Angeles show at the end of our 2022 tour was the perfect time and place to do something special - something like a long awaited DVD/live album by JINJER! The totally packed, legendary venue, the crazy west coast vibes, and most importantly, the band delivering it with full force after being on tour for 6 months around the globe - from Europe to Australia and back to the USA - made this an extra special night. For the fans who joined us that night at The Wiltern, it was an unforgettable concert, but now every single JINJER supporter around the world can experience and enjoy an ideal set featuring our biggest hits from older albums as well as recent bangers. This is not just a DVD or a live album, but a celebration of the first 15 years of the JINJER story, right before we move on to the next chapter..."

LIKE MOTHS TO FLAMES

Like Moths To Flames have announced their new album 'THE CYCLES OF TRYING TO COPE', set for a May 10th release. The band have also shared new single, 'Kintsugi'!

"When things go wrong, I think we are left to pick up the pieces and forced to choose which piece to leave with," says singer Chris Roetter. "If it's not possible to leave with everything the way it was before it broke, how do you know what piece to hold onto?"

ROBERT JON & THE WRECK

Robert Jon & The Wreck share 'Dragging Me Down', the second single from their eagerly anticipated album, 'Red Moon Rising', out on June 28th.

The track is a "bonafide, heavy hitting riff-rock anthem," according to guitarist Henry James, who adds "This is sure to get you singing along and get your feet stomping!"

DREAM WIFE

International Women's Day saw Dream Wife share their version of iconic track, 'All The Things She Said'.

Commenting on the track, the group said: "Dream wife women. The controversial Queer anthem is an all time favourite of ours! The legacy of all the things she said is a bit of a paradox - being both the first gay kiss a lot of us would have witnessed, generating a feeling of being seen, confused & turned on as young people - while simultaneously bolstering a legacy of pandering heavily to the male gaze, locating this preteen desire in male fantasy and plenty of unashamed homophobia attached. It's a complicated relationship to have to a song, but when it comes on at the club there is nothing complicated about it."

In order to address this we decided to do it with our twist, speaking to the scope of all of our desires as a band - subverting this legacy while keeping it really fucking queer.

Also Alice's fiancé Daisy Jones wrote this really amazing book called All The Things She Said which is a beautiful love letter to lesbian & bisexual women's culture. Highly recommend.

We've been playing the ATTSS live on our most recent tour dates and it's amazing seeing you all those losing it to the music - it's been pure heart warming, soul pumping, joy. We had so much fun recording just outside Prague, in the middle of tour, really capturing the energy of the live show."

PILLOW QUEENS

Pillow Queens share their latest track, 'Like A Lesson', from new album, 'Name Your Sorrow', due out April 19th.

The band says the track dives into, "The notion of finding safety and comfort in the presence of love of limerence is emphasized, contrasting with the paralyzing fear of making mistakes or ruining your life or someone else's. It delves into the feeling of being a lesson for someone, a side character in someone else's story."

They continue, "Sonically, we were influenced by a range of artists from Blur and REM to Semisonic, New Radicals, and Squeeze. It began as a song we felt had a strong country music influence and morphed into something that referenced a wide range of our musical tastes. It's the 90s soft rock song on the album."

HOCKEY DAD

Hockey Dad announce new album 'Rebuild Repeat', to be released 14th June, with new single, 'Base Camp', out now!

"This album for me feels like a fresh rebirth after a muddy, hazy couple of years for us and everyone else in the world," said Zach Stephenson. "Rebuild Repeat" as a title kind of describes the process of making a new record as a band. You only have yourselves as raw materials. You knock down what you had from the past, re-design, rebuild it and repeat. Hopefully you learn some structural integrity tips along your way."

SLASH

Iconic guitarist and songwriter Slash, has announced that his highly anticipated sixth solo album titled 'Orgy of the Damned', will be released on May 17th.

The first single 'Killing Floor', which features Brian Johnson of AC/DC on vocals, and Steven Tyler of Aerosmith on harmonica, is out now!

Slash says of the track, "'Killing Floor' is one of my favorite Howlin' Wolf songs, but also one of the iconic blues riffs that turned me on as a young guitar player. I've always wanted to cover it in some capacity and this record was the perfect vehicle. But playing it with this band, and with Brian Johnson singing, it was an achievement I would never have imagined back then. Let alone Steven Tyler providing the harp."

Johnson adds, "When Slash asked me to sing on 'Killing Floor,' I said yes immediately. It was one of the first songs I learned in my very first band, and when he played me the backing track it was a no-brainer, and Steven's harmonica is so bloody hot. I had a ball with Slash in the studio, and I think we did this great old song justice. Rock on."

The acclaimed guitarist reteamed with storied producer Mike Clink and enlisted the album's diverse guest vocalists which include Gary Clark Jr, Billy F. Gibbons, Chris Stapleton, Dorothy, Iggy Pop, Paul Rodgers, Demi Lovato, Brian Johnson, Tash Neal, Chris Robinson, and Beth Hart, in a similar way to his 2010 self-titled solo LP.

To round out his band in the studio and on the road, SLASH reunited with two of his bandmates from his Blues Ball outfit in the 90's, bassist Johnny Griparic and keyboardist Teddy Andreadis, and brought on drummer Michael Jerome and singer/guitarist Tash Neal.

RADAR FESTIVAL

RADAR Festival continue their tradition of innovation with their final headliner of 2024: the iconic prog-metal group Leprous will close the festival with a UK-first real-time song request set.

Festival co-organiser Joe James comments: "We're delighted to announce the return of RADAR alumni, Leprous, to our bigger Manchester stage after they headlined Guildford in 2022. They're a band I have always been exceptionally fond of, so to have them return and play a special fan interactive set is a proud moment.

"It's taken a little longer than we wanted, but we're super happy to have day splits out there. We've got three final acts still to announce, so stay tuned for that!"

Next up we'll be announcing the masterclass programme. Roll on July!"

The Y Not Festival line-up grew this week with new additions including Another Sky, Unpeople and Gen and the Degenerates.

They join a bill featuring Snow Patrol, Noel Gallagher's High Flying Birds, The Kooks, Jake Bugg, The Snuts, Frank Turner, Soft Play, Yard Act, Pale Waves, Bob Vylan, Lottery Winners, The View, Black Honey, The Mysterines and more!

LAKE MALICE @ WATERFRONT STUDIO, NORWICH - 09/03/24

There isn't many new bands currently with a similar level of buzz as Lake Malice. Impressive support shows and memorable festival slots have already won them a dedicated fan base and their debut EP won even more plaudits including winning our own 'EP of the Year' Award last year!

The band are presently in the midst of their debut headline tour and tonight that finds them at the Waterfront Studio in Norwich and there aren't many tickets left. Once inside the venue you get a true sense of the anticipation with fans filling the front to save their spot, and soon those fans are greeted by local openers Omega Bad.

Despite some good old fashioned technical difficulties the band leave it all out on the stage and deliver a compelling opening set. With moments of ferocity and finery diligently dispersed, there is plenty to enjoy during their time on stage and it's very apparent that the crowd agrees.

The opening third of this tour features TheCityIsOurs in the main support slot and there are clearly a few of their own fans in the audience this evening. The band have been chucking out some outrageously good new tunes recently and again expectation is high.

Sadly those gremlins that toyed with Omega Bad take things to another level and almost completely sabotage TheCityIsOurs. With only one song down, it reaches a point whereby all resign themselves to a missed opportunity. What transpires though is something special with guitarist Mikey Page serenading the fans with toned-down versions of songs which the crowd truly appreciate.

Thankfully the group are able to remove the gremlins in time to quickly deliver a handful of all-out rippers to finish their set and show the packed crowd what they should expect next time around. The band deserve credit for persevering and those in attendance will surely be waiting patiently for their return.

Doors were early tonight and with an early finish due to a club night, time is running short. It doesn't take long for our headliners to hit the stage and thankfully Lake Malice avoid any of the issues which plagued our opening acts.

If you were to put money on an act to breakout in the heavy world over the next year or so, you'd expect a lot of smart money to be put on Lake Malice. As we've touched on they've already done the legwork required to establish themselves as a must see act and now that message is being spread far and wide.

Tonight, they explode on to the stage with 'Black Turbine' and 'Bloodbath' showing their ungodly energy and whipping the audience into a frenzy. That level of intensity doesn't drop at any point with even the two new tracks in the set going off big time.

That debut EP 'Post-Genesis' has shown what the group can achieve but as the evening progresses you can't help but contemplate that this is only the beginning! Indeed, the future of the band feels huge and that future is going to be built on the foundations of their incredible live shows.

With just that one EP and a handful of standalone singles in their arsenal the set is relatively short, but at this unrelenting pace you'd probably need an oxygen tank to keep up with the band. The finale of 'Stop the Party' and 'Blossom' ends the evening in fierce and passionate fashion and word of these shows is surely bound to spread.

Set list.

ALBUM

Grace Petrie has long established herself as one of the country's finest folk troubadours and now after a much heralded sojourn touring her comedy show, 'Butch Ado About Nothing', Petrie returns with new album, 'Build Something Better'.

Petrie is now approaching two decades behind the microphone and has an increasingly impressive assortment of releases in her back catalogue. Each album seems to demonstrate artistic growth and particularly this album feels like Petrie's song craft has reached new levels of brilliance.

Yes, this is a confident and assured collection of reflective and honest folk tales from an artist at their very best. Each track paints an all too familiar and desperate picture of living life in modern Britain; told as only Petrie can with her lived experience and ability to verbalise the untold.

Touring buddy Frank Turner continues to cut his producing teeth and on this record he manages to capture the frank (pun only slighted intended!) passion of Petrie perfectly. The clever lyricism and pure vocal delivery of Petrie though is the big takeaway from the eleven songs.

'The House Always Wins' is an early standout and the likes of 'Meanwhile In Texas', 'Start Again' and 'Fixer Upper' are worth a note, but the reality is that the old cliché that there isn't a bad song on the album is indeed very fitting here.

'Build Something Better' is the latest statement of an artist of unparalleled natural talent. There are many artists and groups making sincere and striking music, many of which form the wider scene that Grace Petrie calls home. But it's hard to argue on the evidence of this record that Petrie isn't amongst the very best.

LYRICS ON THE BRAIN

Can you name each song from the lyrics?

Go on give it a go - the theme this week is:

TREES!

BUT IT ONLY TAKES ONE TREE TO MAKE A THOUSAND MATCHES

WELL MAJOR OAK IS AN ANCIENT TREE IN THE MIDDLE OF THE SHERWOOD FOREST

WALK WITH ME UNTIL THE TIME AND MAKE THE FOREST TURN TO WINE

I KNOW WHERE YOU STAND SILENT IN THE TREES

TAKE ONLY WHAT YOU NEED FROM IT A FAMILY OF TREES WANTING TO BE HAUNTED

ANSWERS: 1) 'A Thousand Trees' - Stereophonics 2) 'Major Oak' - Beans On Toast 3) 'Forest' - System of a Down 4) 'Vessel' - Twenty One Pilots 5) 'Kids' - MGMT

Young Fatigue - 'Sold Out'

Sleepy punk trio Young Fatigue are back with an adrenaline-fueled new single, 'Sold Out'.

Singer/Guitarist Ash Dixon says, "'Sold Out' was conceived during a painfully long train ride home after a gig where no one turned up. We all know being a small band or artist is a grind, but it's hard to not let it get to you. We were determined to turn that experience into something positive. And out popped 'Sold Out'.

As a small band. you have no money, little resources, and yet you're expected to project a world-class image, produce radio-quality hits, and all while churning out enough 'content' to prompt loved ones to plan an intervention. 'Sold Out' is about reclaiming that experience. And I think that's captured even more so in the music video. Here's where we want to be as a band. And here's a song for you to judge whether we deserve it."

QUEEN LAYA - 'IMAGE & LIKENESS OF THE END'

QUEEN LAYA has announced the forthcoming release of her debut self-titled EP, which will be released on Friday 17th May. The announcement comes with the unveiling of new single, 'IMAGE & LIKENESS OF THE END'.

QUEEN LAYA delves into the context of the new single, "IMAGE & LIKENESS OF THE END is about my process with social media pressures and growing up with hateful tabloids breeding a lot of self loathe for many individuals. This song is a conversation between myself & those exact projections from the media. I set out to defy the low vibrational messages, and take on a path of discovery. In this world, having self respect & self worth is seen as a deadly sin and the end of the world. I'm battling between being confined in comfort, or breaking free & conquering the unimaginable."

LOVELOST - 'BURNBRIGHT'

LOVELOST release their debut single, 'BURNBRIGHT'.

Tobias Faulkner - "'Burnbright' paints a sonorous canvas of poignant loss. The song resonates with the ache of unspoken words and the wish for a chance to rewrite a final goodbye. 'Burnbright' is an emotional journey into the depths of loss and of 'what ifs.' In this song, LOVELOST delicately explores the ache of hindsight, capturing the universal sentiment of wishing we could have done more to save someone we love. The melodies and lyrics create a visceral experience that resonates with anyone who has grappled with the profound impact of loss. It's a tribute to the complexities of human connection and the lingering echoes of love that remain, even in the face of goodbye."
